Amunson Visits Local Boy Scouts

The local Boy Scout organization was visited Friday and Friday night by M. M. Amunson, of Columbus, Ohio, the regional executive of Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky, and the results of his visit are apparent in the added enthusiasm and zest with which the local scouts are displaying in the work and the determination they have shown to make their particular organization second to none in the state.

At Trimble's Hall Friday afternoon the boys drilled for Mr. Amunson, under the direction of Drillmaster Joe Keller, and each troop conducted itself creditably, especially in view of the fact that the movement is a new one in this city.

The most enthusiastic meeting was held at the courthouse Friday night, which was attended by a number of business and professional men, in addition to fifty uniformed scouts.

Scoutmaster L. O. Knox, who is also instructor in agriculture and manager of the college farm at Stanton College, had five of his troop here for the meeting and they were quite an inspiration to local boys, as they are deeply interested in the work, and have accomplished a great deal.

Mr. Amunson gave a splendid address and promised a return visit in the near future.

R. W. Hills, the Community Service representative, made an inspiring talk to the boys and succeeded in introducing, community singing into the group with fine results.

Mt. Sterling Defeats Paris in Good Game

About 800 enthusiastic fans witnessed the game between Mt. Sterling and Paris in the latter city on Sunday, when Paris was defeated by Mt. Sterling by the score of 11 to 7. The batteries were: Paris—Martin, Barlow and Merryman. For Mt. Sterling—Wells and Gay.

Accidentally Kills Wife

William Sanders, who lives on the Bridgforth farm, four miles east of this city, accidentally shot and killed his wife at their home last Friday. Mrs. Sanders, who had discovered a hawk after the chickens, called to her husband to bring his shot gun, which he did, and in passing through the doorway the gun, in some manner, caught in the screen and discharged, the shot piercing the woman's heart, killing her instantly.

Mrs. Sanders is survived by her husband and four small children. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence and were conducted by the Rev. Clyde Darsie. Burial followed in Macphelah cemetery.

KENTUCKY OIL PRICE IS BOOSTED AGAIN

Local oil men are much gratified today to learn that the price of Kentucky crude oil has taken another jump, both Somerset and Somerset Light being advanced 20 cents a barrel and Ragland 10 cents a barrel. With this increase, which is the second in the last two weeks, Somerset jumps from $1.75 to $1.95 a barrel and Somerset Light from $2 to $2.20 a barrel. Ragland is advanced from 1.15 to $1.25 a barrel. This means thousands of dollars to further stimulate oil developments in this state.

OLD TIME PRICES

As evidenced by some of the prices quoted by some of our advertisers this week many old time values have worked their way "back home." It now appears as though the dry goods and clothing markets are well stabilized and that the consumer can at least buy their immediate needs now with reasonable assurance that prices will be no cheaper for many months.

Another meeting has been called for Thursday night, May 5, when the various committees will be named and the work started in real earnest.

Hun Offer Will Fall Far Short

The ultimate total indemnity which Germany agrees to pay the Allies is 200,000,000,000 gold marks, as against 226,000,000,000 demanded by the Allies in their Paris terms.

This is positively stated by those close to the government, although the German counter-proposals have not been made public.

Dr. Simons, the foreign secretary withheld the new proposals from the Reichstag today because of an understanding with the American embassy and for the additional reasons that there is a paragraph in the note to President Harding suggesting that he feel free to query back for further information or the elucidation of any point not clear, if he so desires, before submitting the note to the Entente.

Beaten by Negroes

Charles Sexton, well known citizen of Salt Lick, was found at an early hour this morning in an unconscious condition near the railroad tracks in that city. He regained consciousness and stated that he had been assaulted by two negroes and beaten into insensibility. He lay in the rain all night and is in a critical condition as a result of the beating and from exposure. Police are at work on the case and it is hoped that the guilty parties may soon be brought to justice.

The Strollers, a theatrical organization from the University of Kentucky, will give their play, "The Admirable Crichton," at the Tabb Theatre in this city Friday night. Sterling people are delighted to have the opportunity of seeing her play.

Eggs Preserved Will Furnish Winter Supply

With eggs as abundant and cheap now as they will probably be any time during the year they may be profitably preserved in water-glass solution and kept in excellent condition for eight to ten months for use when eggs are expensive, according to J. Holmes Martin, in charge of the poultry work at the College of Agriculture. Eggs laid during April, May and June have been found to keep better than those laid later in the season.

The secret of success in preserving eggs for winter use lies in getting them into the solution while they are fresh, clean and if possible infertile. Small stains may be removed with a cloth dampened with vinegar, but under no conditions should a badly soiled egg be used for preserving, for if placed in the solution it will spoil and if washed a protective coating which prevents spoiling, will be removed.

In using the water-glass method of preserving eggs one quart of water-glass or sodium silicate as it is called should be used to nine quarts of water, that has been boiled and cooled. This mixture placed in a five-gallon crock or jar will be sufficient to preserve 15 dozen eggs. Only earthenware jars should be used and these should be thoroughly cleaned and sealed and then allowed to dry. At least two inches of the solution should cover the eggs after they have been placed in the container. Additional eggs may be added from time to time.

The crock containing the preserved eggs should be placed in a cool, dry place. Waxed paper, covered over and tied around the top of the crock will prevent evaporation of the solution.

History's Great Men Were Warm Friends of the Thoroughbred

The annual spring season of thoroughbred racing will soon be at its height in Kentucky, and there is every indication that interest in the famous old sport, this year, will surpass any of the days that have gone before.

Chief among the perennial attractions of thoroughbred racing is its genuine democracy. The thoroughbred has his charms for us all today just as he did in the days of George Washington and Andrew Jackson.

Both these presidents of the United States were great lovers of the thoroughbred and loyal supporters of the sport of horse racing. They bred and raced their own horses, and history records the fact that the former acted as a judge at the Newmarket Course, Charleston, S. C., on one occasion. Washington, as we all know, was a noted horseman, who enjoyed his spirited thoroughbred for riding and hunting through the field until very late in life, and his stable had a reputation for the number and quality of the horses it contained.

Andrew Jackson was an enthusiastic patron of horse racing long before he became president. He maintained a formidable stable, which included Truxton, a horse of which he was exceedingly proud, and with which he won the famous match race for $5,000 against Greyhound. After his inauguration as president, he brought his horses to the Capitol, and in 1834 trained them in person. Vice President and Mrs. Van Buren often being present to witness the morning work-out of the horses personally, superintended by the president, with characteristic impetuosity and plain speech, for "Old Hickory," as history records, "had a temper of his own."

The Washington Course, located about two miles from the Capital, was built in 1802. The Jockey Club, under whose auspices it was operated, numbered among its members the most distinctive men of affairs of the day. Racing was regularly attended by the presidents, from Jefferson to Van Buren. On one occasion John Quincy Adams walked to and from the course, surrounded by the equipages of the wealthy.

"Generals Washington and Jackson," writes one leading commentator, "are examples of the fondness that great statesmen and military men have so generally entertained for the horse and sport of the turf. Though equally bold and aggressive riders in the field, General Jackson was the more successful on the course. The racing annals of the west record his numerous victories, and according to the anecdotes which are told of him, he sometimes intimidated his adversaries of the boldness of defiance, where he might not have won by the speed or bottom of his horse."

One of General Jackson's closest friends was the Rev. H. M. Cryer, a minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who was a breeder of thoroughbred horses and who raced one of them in the name of his partner, Col. Geo. Elliott. The reverend gentleman, having been charged with horse racing, was summoned before the tribunal and asked if he had anything to say in his defense; "nothing," was his reply, "except that I would like to have you let me know how I can arrange it for my half of the horse to stand in the stable while Col. Elliott's half is racing. The horse belongs to us jointly. He has the same right to control him that I have; and he will race him and I cannot keep him from it."

Needless to add, Mr. Cryer was duly acquitted.

The utter absence of prejudice against the turf in earlier days brings into sharp contrast our sporadic latter-day agitations in disapproval.

For example, it is mentioned in the Catholic Churchman, published at Annapolis in 1744, that among the legitimate pastimes of the population which met with the approval of the church itself, was the new one of racing horses, which had grown to be highly popular among the gentry of the country. However, we of today, have every reason to believe that the turf is on the eve of a greater measure of popular support than it has received in a decade—not only as a matter of healthful out-of-door entertainment but also because of its importance as an adjunct to the industry of breeding thoroughbred horses for use in supplying the army with cavalry mounts and other highly utilitarian purposes.

Killing the Proposed Prohibition Amends

Prohibition will be effective in two years, and bootleggers will then be an extinct race, was the opinion expressed by U. S. Attorney General Daugherty at a meeting with Washington newspaper men.—News item.

Guess again, Mr. Daugherty.

One by one the bars are being let down, even this early, so that the accumulation of them if allowed to continue and remain in force for two years more will leave prohibition less effective in 1923 than it is now. It certainly is disconcerting and discouraging to the thousands and millions of good rural people who have fought the rum traffic in this country during the last fifty years.

Let's see how effective the prohibition amendment is becoming.

(1) Almost any big liquor dealer whose wet goods are seized by the enforcement agents can get a court order for their return on some technicality or other, or upon some lying statement or other. Anyway, in the cities. A seizure of $250,000 of wine and spirits had hardly been made in one New York joint this last week before the government officials themselves had taken steps to investigate the legality of it.

(2) Not long ago the U. S. Attorney General decided that no liquor in transit could come into the United States, and that the ship carrying the cargo could be seized. The Customs Department has decided to ignore this decision "for fear of international complications."

(3) The Justice Department recently decided that it was legal to make beer FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES. Now three hundred breweries have filed demands for permits to make beer. Two or three breweries would be able to make all the beer needed for legitimate medical purposes in this whole country.

These three facts can easily kill prohibition. But there are many other minor loopholes that aid to the same effect.

Are the people who have voted down intoxicating liquors, going to stand for it?

Salvation Army News

She is just a slip of a girl in a Blue Bonnet, but she is holding down a man's sized job. People never get so low that she refuses to help them; when all others forsake them the Salvation Girl, with a bit of a tear in her eye, perhaps, but with a brave little smile of encouragement, goes down to the very pits of Hell to drag folks up when the sun shines. Tambourine in hand she may be seen any night in the slums, an angel in a world of sin, just helping poor devils, and as she passes on her weary way, this old globe is better, more beautiful for her passing.

She went to war, too. What she did Over There is glorious history. One might sum up the soldier's estimate of her in just a sentence from the letter of an American "dough-boy" to his mother, "Dear mother," he wrote, from the front. "When you go down town tonight won't you please drop a dollar for me on the first Salvation Army drum you see!"

The war is over, but the Salvation Army Girl's work is never done until heaven reaches out its hands for her. Each day her toil grows heavier, yet she never complains.

The Salvation Army is now preparing to put into operation the most revolutionary step taken in the history of its forty years' service in the United States. It is about to establish a Home Service Program, which will extend the activities of the Army from the cities to every small town and rural community in the nation. Thus the Army seeks to check at their source many of society's greatest evils. In other words, the Salvation Army is endeavoring to become a preventive in addition to a curative force.

In every county in the land, Advisory Boards, composed of leading citizens, are being formed, to determine the social problems of each section. These boards will be the judges of their own particular needs; in the solution of the problems they will have at their constant command the services of the highly trained and efficient Salvation Army workers whose ability was best demonstrated during the war. But to do all this, more funds will have to be collected, to partially defray the cost of the Home Service Campaign.

The County Advisory Boards will see to it that the amounts requested are kept down to the lowest figures possible.

The Salvation Army Girl, whose last thought is of herself, is thinking of you. She is wondering whether you will do your bit in assisting her to keep up the good work to which she has dedicated her young life. She believes you will not desert her in this, her hour of need. She is "Sister to all the World." Won't you help her?

Large Prizes Awarded

As a further step in the movement to encourage the production of better grade meat animals in Kentucky and Tennessee, announcement has been made by the Louisville Livestock Exchange that a fat and feeding cattle show and sale would be held at the Bourbon Stock Yards in connection with the State Fair on September 15 and 16.

Prizes to the amount of $5,500 will be offered in eight events. The prizes will be for carload lots and will be for the best showing by dry fed steers, grass fed steers, feeding steers, heifers and single steers. There will be from four to five prizes for each class.

The show is held by special arrangement with the State Fair authorities and with their full co-operation. It was found that the room at the State Fair grounds was insufficient for such a large exhibition of animals as will be held, and the first plans for holding the events there were consequently abandoned.

Cattle from both Kentucky and Tennessee, it is expected, will be entered.

From indications received before the show was decided on and when a canvass of the livestock situation was made to determine what accommodations would have to be provided, it is thought that farmers from over the state lines will attend.

The growing interest in better livestock is reflected in daily reports from the livestock producing centers, by field agents of the livestock interests and from county agents, who have been arranging for the Farmers' Better Sire Sale of 200 pure bred bulls, to be held at the Bourbon Stock Yards June 2nd.

The following is the list of awards offered for the Bourbon Stock Yards Fat and Feeding Cattle Show and Sale next September.

Pigs Need Quantity of Mineral Matter

An allowance of a mixture of mineral matter is not only good for producing bone but it also a good conditioner for the sow and her litter of pigs, according to Prof. E. J. Wilford, of the Animal Husbandry Department of the College of Agriculture. A mixture which has given good results is composed of two bushels of slack coal or charcoal, one bushel of wood ashes, two quarts of air-slacked lime, two pounds of salt and four pounds of sulphur.

GOOD TOBACCO WILL BE WANTED

In order to induce the people to use V.-C. Fertilizer and make fine tobacco, the V.-C. Co., the largest fertilizer company in the world, has just made a big reduction in prices, and I can now sell you our V.-C. Gem Tobacco Grower at $38.50 per ton, F. O. B. Lexington and $2.60 per bag for our V.-C. Plant Food.

Another common crop of tobacco would certainly bring ruin to the tobacco growers and to the tobacco trade, while a medium size crop of good, bright tobacco will be needed, and will no doubt bring good paying prices. 200 pounds of our Gem Tobacco Grower drilled in, or by the side of the row, gives your tobacco a start and ripens it up with good color two weeks sooner, and only costs $3.85 an acre; or three bags, 375 pounds drilled in all over the ground, will make you a fine tobacco crop and also make you a fine wheat or rye and grass crop following it. Either one of these crops will more than pay for the fertilizer. See that your plants are not killed.

A party that used three bags in this way made 13,875 pounds on ten acres and sold it for $40.14 average this season.

A little of our Plant Food sowed over the bed and after they come up, and wished in, will give you plants two weeks sooner.

Two bags will double the yield of one acre of potatoes.

Terms this year are positively cash.

GOOD ROADS WILL INCREASE VALUE OF PROPERTY

The statement that good hard surfaced thoroughfares will increase the value of your property is an undisputed fact and every land-owner knows that the location of farming land and other property has much to do with the value of same and, for this reason, if no other, we are firmly convinced that every land-owner in the county should support the bond issue to be voted on in Montgomery county on May 28th. The additional amount you will be called upon to pay in taxes will be more than offset by the increased value to property and from an economic standpoint we think it wise that this county support the effort being made to give us hard surfaced roads.

As we understand it, the entire bond issue of $250,000 is to be expended in connection with the State and Federal Governments, this county bearing only one-fourth of the cost of construction, the State one-fourth and the Federal Government one-half. When we are in a position to secure such a needed improvement for only one-fourth the cost of original construction and then be relieved entirely of the cost of maintenance, we cannot see how our citizens can conscientiously be opposed to the bond issue.

The voting of the proposed bond issue and the inaugurating of hard surfaced roads will be the most progressive step ever taken in the history of Montgomery county and will prove equally as beneficial to our citizens as the building of the C. & O. railroad did. Let's all get behind the County Commissioners and insure the carrying of the bond issue by an overwhelming majority at the polls on May 28th.

Volstead Seeks to Prohibit Sale of Beer

As the first step of the fight in Congress to tighten up the Volstead prohibition enforcement law, a bill designed to prohibit the sale of beer to the sick on a doctor's prescription was introduced in the House yesterday by Chairman Andrew J. Volstead of the Judiciary Committee.

The measure would not prohibit use of wine for medicinal purposes, but would make more specific and stringent the regulations on this subject.

Frankly declaring there was no real necessity for beer as a medicine, Mr. Volstead announced that his bill was put forth at this time to meet the situation created by the opinion of former Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer that beer and wine under the Volstead act would be prescribed for the ailing.

In tentative regulations announced last week by Prohibition Commissioner Kramer, but which must await approval by David H. Blair, the new commissioner of internal revenue, an arbitrary limit of four and seven-eighths gallons of beer and three gallons of wine was fixed as the maximum that might be prescribed by a physician at any one time. Mr. Palmer had ruled that the law fixed no limit.

Regardless of what Commissioner Blair may rule, Mr. Volstead indicated that the prohibition forces in the House were prepared to take the beer bull by the horns and let the world know that there will be no beer. The bill will be referred to Mr. Volstead's committee for hearing and report. Members opposed to any modification of the dry law said tonight it probably would be reported to the House substantially as drawn. There were predictions from many dry quarters that its passage was certain.

After counting noses upon the committee, Mr. Volstead is strongly of the opinion, he said, that there will be no turn back upon the question of prohibition, even in the face of a cry from many sections that Congress give the proposed beer regulations for the sick a tryout.

After turning thumbs down on beer and putting extra safeguards around the medicinal use of wine, home-made or imported, the new Volstead bill would close the gates to importation of liquor and shut down distilleries until the present stock of about 40,000,000 gallons, now in bonded warehouses had been exhausted. Mr. Volstead declared there was no sense in allowing large quantities to be imported or manufactured while there was so much on hand.

AIN'T DOCTORS THE MEANEST THINGS?

Some one is always taking the joy out of life. After all of our hard work boosting the Corn Fed girl and all of our argument in favor of Corn Feds, here comes the Journal of the American Medical Association with a report that fat is a burden and an incubus and that it shortens life and produces discomfort and disfigurement. We are also told that fat puts a strain on the heart and on the joints, and that it pushes up the diaphragm and cramps the lungs.

Is that so! Well, it doesn't put bones in the chest and angles in the joints. And it doesn't push one hip higher than the other, because the Corn Fed has her own hips, not store hips. And it doesn't cramp the chest and the hips so that you look like a bed slat. And it doesn't put a strain on the shoulders wearing suspenders to hold the skirt up.

This medical authority also announces that fat results in "over-feeding." Well, it doesn't. A Corn Fed girl doesn't eat half as much as a thin girl. She is afraid to. She would rather go hungry than make two curves grow where but one of them grew before.

Farmers should not buy stock hogs higher than the market, for fat hogs unless they want to lose the corn they feed them.

Will Not Allow

Hogs at Large

Hogs will not be permitted to run about the streets of any incorporated town or city in Kentucky this summer and they may be kept in towns only where the space and the cleanliness, constantly maintained, are sufficient to prevent offensive odors or other conditions dangerous to health. Dr. A. T. McCormack, State Health Officer, announced in Louisville last week.

There is a law on the Kentucky statute books which authorizes local health authorities to prosecute persons who permit their hogs to become a nuisance, he explained, and it is the intention of the State Board of Health to recommend such prosecution wherever conditions are encountered that seem to demand it.

Hogs running at large, he pointed out in explanation of this decision, constitute a real menace to the health of a community. There is an ever-present danger of their polluting water supplies and unclean pens are a favorite breeding place for flies and a very common source of the diseases which flies disseminate.

When you feel run-down, out of sorts, blue and despondent try the energizing influence of Golden Medical Discovery in tablet or liquid form. Nearly a million bottles were sold last year.

More Legumes are Hope for Improvement

An increase in the acreage of legumes grown in the State is the only hope for improving the soils of Kentucky, according to a statement by Prof. George Roberts, head of the Soils and Crops Department of the College of Agriculture. With the present proportion of clover and other legumes in the cropping systems of the State it is impossible that any general improvement in the fertility of the soils will take place. Less than one-third to one-fourth of the cultivated acreage planted to legumes will not maintain the necessary amount of nitrogen in the soils, Prof. Roberts states.

Even this proportion will not do it unless the legumes are either turned under or are fed with a careful saving of manure, according to the specialist, who recommends that farmers consider this point and plan their systems of farming accordingly. The nitrogen in a clover hay crop represents about what the crop gets from the air while the nitrogen in the roots and stubble represents about what is obtained from the soil. If the hay is fed about two-thirds of the nitrogen may be removed in manure. This along with the saving of manure from feeding other crops will maintain the nitrogen supply. Liquid manure must also be saved, Prof. Roberts states, since it contains as much nitrogen as the solid material. Fortunately nearly all potash in feed is recovered in manure, and the use of it will make it unnecessary to buy potash.

In many cases it is necessary to use lime or phosphate or both in order to grow legumes, but it is highly profitable to do so, Prof. Roberts states.

A man never thinks of protecting his hair until he realizes that he hasn't enough of it to take its own part.

Every article sold in this establishment is of the highest type. Nothing is placed in stock that is of doubtful character. Comparative prices are not used. Patrons place confidence in us and this confidence must be maintained at all times.

Five Years' Trouble Had Weakened Him So He Could Work But Very Little—Troubles Ended.

"If there was ever a time in my life when I felt better than I do now I don't remember it," said Michael McCrone, of 541 South Clay St., Louisville, Ky.

"I have not only gotten rid of stomach trouble and catarrh of the head that made life miserable for five years, but I actually weigh 23 pounds more than I did the day I began taking Tanlac. I could not eat anything except very light food, but what gas would form kept me feeling sick at the stomach for hours. I had the worst sort of pains in my left side, and at night especially the catarrh in my head caused me so much trouble I could get but little rest. I could scarcely breathe lying down and it was often almost day before I got any sleep at all. I lost thirty pounds in weight and had very little strength and had to stay home from work for days at a time.

"While looking over the paper one evening I ran across a testimonial for Tanlac that described my case so well that I made up my mind to give it a trial. After I had finished my third bottle I was feeling like a brand new man. My catarrh has gone and my head felt clearer, my stomach stopped troubling me, and I could lie down at night and sleep like a child. I can now eat anything I want and never feel a touch of indigestion. I have never felt better in my life than I do now."

EDUCATIONAL TOOTH TALK—48
Reason in All Things

Do the fees you pay your dentist seem too high? Think a moment! His charges are based on the service he renders; he surely has a right to a fee that will make his net income compare favorably with that of the carpenters, the plumbers, the bricklayers, the physicians, the lawyers. The time and money he has spent in preliminary training were as great as any of these others; his present investment is fully as large; his work goes to prevent fully two-thirds of the ailments the human race is heir to. And all this he places gladly at your disposal.—Dr. H. M. Wright, Traders Bank Building.

Rations Recommended For Sows and Litters

Four rations which have given good results in experiments are recommended by animal husbandry specialists at the College of Agriculture for the sow having a litter of pigs. The first is composed of one part of corn and three parts of skim milk, the second of nine parts of corn and one part of tankage, and the third of equal parts of shipstuffs and corn. Corn, shipstuffs and ground oats in equal parts make up the fourth ration. A full feed for the sow having a litter of pigs is about four per cent of her live weight in feed each day.

A good ration for young pigs is composed of 40 pounds of corn, 60 pounds of shipstuffs and ten pounds of tankage. A second one is composed of 30 pounds of corn, 30 pounds of shipstuffs, 30 pounds of ground oats and 10 pounds of tankage.

CARDUI HELPED REGAIN STRENGTH

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering Pain, Nervous and Depressed—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Paint Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stegall, of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak, I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried every thing I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her.

"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since. I sure can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made, and I believe it saved my life."

For over 40 years, thousands of women have used Cardui successfully, in the treatment of many womanly ailments.

If you suffer as these women did, take Cardui. It may help you, too. At all druggists. E 85

More Price Reductions by Harvester Company

Entire Line of Implements Now at LOWER PRICES

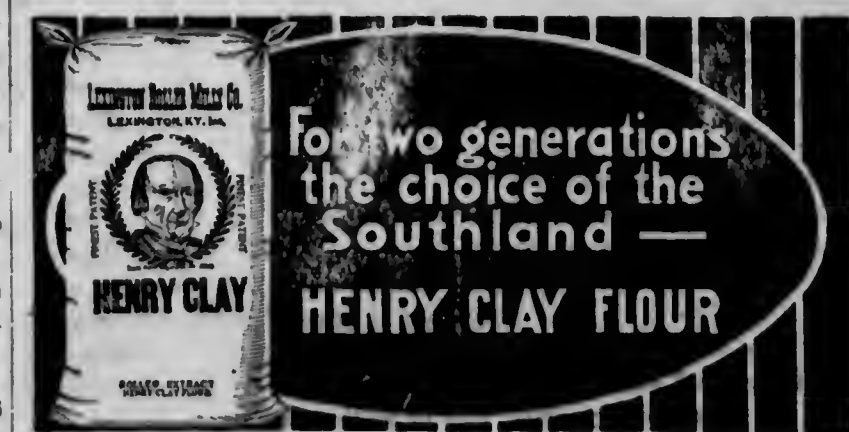

In view of the recent reduction in the price of steel, we now announce lower prices for our entire line of farm machines and implements not covered by reductions previously announced.

All lower prices take effect at once

The reduction in the price of steel comes after all the material for the machines and implements we will sell this year has been provided, and will therefore have no bearing on the manufacturing costs of such machines. However, it does enable the Company to buy materials at lower prices for future manufacture, and in accordance with our announced policy we now quote those prices, the Company taking the loss on machines already finished and materials on hand.

Full information regarding our lower prices on binders, mowers, and all other harvesting, haying and corn machines, tillage implements, tractors, engines, and all other I H C farm machines can be obtained from any International Dealer.

LOSS OF WEIGHT

Mineral Wells, W. Va.—"I am glad benefit from the doctors' medicine.

I also was operated upon for fem-

To the motorist who has quit guessing about tires—

ALONG about this time of year a man finds his motoring neighbors getting anxious about their tires.
With folks expecting old tires to "pop" any minute, there comes the question of what kind of new ones to buy.

U. S. Tires are answering a lot of questions like this nowadays.

The U. S. Tire following embraces two kinds of tire buyers.

Those who started with quality first, and have never bought anything else but the quality standard tire.

Those who came to quality first only after dabbling with "bargains," "rebates," "job lot" and "surplus stock" tires.

Getting one hundred cents value on the dollar in tire buying is a straight-forward business proposition—not guess-work or a game of wits.

The most essential man for you to know today is the local U. S. Tire dealer who is concentrating on a full, completely sized line of U. S. Tires.

He gets his U. S. Tires straight from his neighboring U. S. Tire Factory Branch—one of 92 such Branches established and maintained all over the country by the U. S. Tire makers.

He is the man who can give you fresh, live tires—not stuff shipped to him from some point where it did not sell, but new tires of current production.

Giving the same quality, selection and price-advantage to the owner of the medium weight car as the big car owner gets. With equal service and buying opportunity whether he lives in the smaller localities or the greater centers of population.

THE U. S. NOBBY TREAD

Where the going is especially heavy with snow, mud or sand, in hilly country where maximum traction on the road is a factor, no other tire tread yet devised is quite so effective, or so wholly approved by motoring opinion, as the U. S. Nobby Tread.

Its very simplicity—two diagonal rows of oblong studs, interlocking in their grip on the road —is the result of all the years of U. S. Rubber experience with every type of road the world over.

"The most essential man for you to know today in the tire business is your local U. S.
Tire Dealer."

Visiting Over The Telephone

When telephone users hold the lines for an unnecessarily long period of time, the result is delay and annoyance due to repeated "busy" reports.

Particularly is this true in the case of party line telephones.

Brevity in telephone conversations and releasing a party line when requested to do so, will assist us in our effort to improve your service.

Right now when the switchboards are congested on account of a serious shortage of equipment, every useless call and every unnecessarily long conversation hampers the service that much more.

Children and servants should not be permitted to block your line with idle telephone conversations.

LOCAL MANAGER WANTED

Unusual Opportunity for The Right Man

A large brokerage firm doing a successful business with well-rated concerns throughout the country, wants a capable man at once to develop and handle their local business. The opportunity is an unusual one, because of the possibilities offered for substantial earnings in a highly respectable business which will steadily increase as it becomes more firmly established locally.

The position requires a man possessing executive and sales ability with business experience and having commercial banking connections, although no investment is necessary. He may devote only a portion of his time to the business at first if desired, though we prefer a man who is able and willing to give the business his entire time and best efforts.

The local branch should pay from $2,500 to $10,000 the first year, according to population and the ability of the manager, as the commodity which we handle is a staple, always in demand, and which our large buying facilities permit us to sell at less than average market prices.

Owing to the demand, we must fill this position at once. Send your application to Guarantee Coal Mining Co., 1256 Como Bldg., Chicago, Ill., but do not write unless you can satisfy us as to honesty, reputation and business ability.

$200,000,000 in Advertising in 1920

Newspaper advertising throughout the country increased in value during 1920 to more than $200,000,000, an advance of $50,000,000 over that of the previous year, the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association reported. The report, approved by the committee in charge, will be submitted to the association in convention in New York Wednesday.

Newspaper advertising space has gained in favor as a medium of results and of such economy, the committee reported. Increase of service to advertisers has made necessary the opening of a San Francisco office to supplement the Chicago and New York offices. Plans for the new offices will be submitted Wednesday.

Produce Review

The butter market is closing the week on a slightly lower basis, due to increased receipts. The market probably will work still lower, until it reaches a storage basis.

Fresh eggs are plentiful on all markets and receipts are greater than for the same time a year ago, with an easier tendency and lower markets at the close of the week. Due to the very large quantity in storage, as compared with this time last year, less interest is being shown in eggs for storage purposes, at prevailing prices.

Live poultry prices have ruled a little easier during the week, as the demand for the Jewish holidays has been well supplied. Prices in the country are ruling lower.
